Why stores carry Hyperflite discs

Designed for dogs from day one

We filed the first patent for a dog-specific competition disc in 2000. Every disc is shaped, gripped, and weighted for a dog's mouth.

Founded by World Champions

Peter Bloeme and Jeff Perry are Hall of Fame World Canine Disc Champions, and you can reach them directly.

Made in Georgia, USA

Food-safe plastics and dyes, with X-Flash™ anti-glare texture on every disc so dogs track it better in the sun.

Tough options for hard biters

Jawz, HyperFlex, and X-Comp are puncture-resistant, so they're safe to sell without a staff consultation.

Official disc of Skyhoundz

Every model is approved for the Skyhoundz World Canine Disc Championship Series, with 100+ competitions a year.

Sells itself on the peg

Hang-ready header cards fit standard peg hooks. The insert links to our free Disc Dogs Rock! guide in 11 languages.

Wholesale terms

Minimum — $200 for every order. Mix models, formulations, and colors with no per-item minimum.

Pricing — Wholesale pricing is sent on approval. Our MAP policy applies across all sales channels.

Payment — Prepaid before shipping, which keeps wholesale prices low. Wire transfer or Discover, MasterCard, or Visa, after you approve the order total.

Shipping — From Jasper, Georgia. Most orders ship within five business days.

Packaging — Hang-ready or bulk, your choice. No special display needed.

Extras — Free samples for authorized resellers. Custom logo discs from 100.

Starting out?

Lead with the K-10 disc. It outsells the Pup disc about 3 to 1. For self-serve sales, start with the puncture-resistant Jawz, HyperFlex, and X-Comp discs. If your staff can talk with customers about how hard their dog bites, the full line works well.
